John P. Jones, of Nevada, one of the shlest, if one of the least active, republicans in the U.S. senate, says in an interview in the Chicago Inter Ocean:

"The North does not want the force bill. Did you hear any protest from the masses of the North when it was defeated? Not one, except the wall from the politicians, and the South will not forget where the western men stood on this bill. It is dead, never to be revived.

Let me give you my views on the south-
